

ABSTRACT

A method and apparatus for playing a slot machine game. All the possible 'hands' for a cycle are generated and stored in a database. One 'hand is randomly selected for display until all 'hands' in the cycle are displayed. A prize is awarded to the 5 player, in the event such 'hand' qualifies as a winning combination according to a predetermined table of values.